BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, January 29.—William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, tonight was convicted by a supreme court jury on both counts of an indictment charging him with third-degree forgery in connection with the "splitting" of commissions with a former league fund solicitor.

Justice Tompkins announced Anderson would be sentenced Friday, February 8, to a term of five years in which he has been at liberty since the indictment was returned was continued.

It was understood an appeal would be taken.

The jury deliberated 1 hour and 40 minutes.

Penalty on Conviction.

The dry leader may be sentenced to a prison term of from two and one-half to five years for conviction under the third degree forgery charge.

The verdict was not learned immediately by the expectant crowd that leaned forward in strained silence to catch the jury foreman's words. His voice was so low that it was not heard until the court clerk had made the verdict known by the nature of his questions.

"What is your verdict, gentlemen?" the clerk asked.

The answer was not audible beyond the railing separating the bench, jury and attorneys from the audience, but Anderson, standing tense behind his counsel, evidently correctly interpreted the words, for his eyes closed for one brief flash and he gasped audibly. But the crowd's eyes were on the jury foreman and they did not see Anderson.

"Do you find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment?" the clerk asked.

Answer is Inaudible.

Again the answer was inaudible, but the whole room now knew, from the nature of the question, that the "dry" crusader had been declared guilty on both counts of the indictment.

The jury discharged, there was a departure from the usual procedure. Anderson was not required to answer the questions usually put to convicted men as to their age, occupation and

Friends Forgive Wrecker
GIVEN OVATION ON RETURN; SAYS HE'LL REPAY ALL
Of Score of Fortunes

Tunica, Miss., January 29.—After an absence of 11 years, during which time he played the role of chauffeur, clerk and merchant in various cities in the United States and Canada, Leo Lesser, former planter, cotton factor, banker, manufacturer and philanthropist, returned home today, was forgiven by his legion of friends and the courts and announced his determination to repay his many and varied creditors, dollar for dollar, the almost countless sums, large and small, they lost when he went away and left a score of wrecked business firms and a trail of worthless paper.

Hundreds of Tunica county citizens, apprised in advance of Lesser's home coming, met him at the train this morning, and with one voice bade him welcome. Whatever odium followed in the wake of his departure in 1913 was forgotten today in the rejoicing over his return.

Although he was charged in eight indictments with embezzlement, forgery and fraudulent breach of trust, dozens of men and women recall today that Leo Lesser had befriended them in the days when his meteoric career was cast across the sky of the financial and business world. Hundreds of notes bearing the signatures of his friends and indorsed and paid by him were found by the receivers who tried vainly to salvage the business enterprises he was accused of wrecking.

Lesser went before Judge W. A. Alcorn this morning to face a charge of embezzlement in connection with the failure of the Bank of Tunica, of which he was the president. A petition signed by 600 citizens of Tunica county, and asking that the charge be dismissed, was presented to the court. The embezzlement charge was not pressed, and Lesser left immediately for Senatobia, Miss., in an effort to effect a reconciliation with his wife, who has been teaching school since her husband's disappearance.

Lesser said today that when he left Memphis on the night of April 25, 1913, he had $189 in his pocket. It was rumored at the time that he escaped with $50,000 cash, which he was said to have carried in a handbag.

Lesser said the first stop in his flight from Memphis was at Jackson, Tenn., from which place he went to Montreal. He was connected with several small business deals in Canada, Lesser said, and for some time operated a canteen at a Canadian army post.

Mexico City, January 29.—The city of Orizaba, 70 miles from Vera Cruz, has been captured by the federal army that is advancing on De la Huerta's capital.

Esperanza and Oriental, important railway centers on the eastern front, also have been captured by the government troops, which are under the command of Secretary of War Serrano.

In his dispatches reporting the advance, Serrano states that the revolutionists' casualties total 2,500 men killed and wounded, and that the federal troops have captured several trains and much war material.

Predicts Fall of Vera Cruz.

"Vera Cruz will fall before the end of the week," General Arnulfo Gomez, military governor of the Valley of Mexico, told the United Press.

Gomez stated that in the fighting at Esperanza 1,500 rebels had been taken prisoner. He confirmed earlier reports that 1,000 insurgents had been killed in this battle, and said that as the rebel forces in the city had numbered only 3,000 men the federal victory had left the enemy broken and demoralized.

"The rebel chief of staff was killed," Gomez said, "and we have received an unconfirmed report that the body of General Sanchez (military chief of the De la Huerta rebellion) is on its way to Vera Cruz."

"The battles which culminated in the fall of Esperanza rank in magnitude among the most significant in Mexican history," he added.

Rebel Commander Slain.

El Paso, Texas, January 29.—A communique from Morelia announced the death in battle of General Rafael Buelna, rebel commander in that sector, a former bash slinger.

Buelna was widely known in El Paso. For many years he was a waiter in various El Paso restaurants.

He left El Paso only six months ago, going to Mexico City. At the outbreak of the revolution, he joined the rebel forces as a non-commissioned officer. His rise to general followed quickly and at the time of his death he was said to have a large force under his command.

Explains Circular.

The letter also states the circular sent out by the company, for which Mr. Vandiver criticized it, was merely in response to numerous requests received from customers and because of the large number of these requests it was printed for convenience. The letter, it is stated, contained exact copy of the supersedeas order issued by Judge Bell in Fulton superior court, and a copy of the bond approved by the attorney general.

The company also denies the implication in Mr. Vandiver's statement, that it is "the tobacco trust," and is "coupled with manufacturers and jobbers in Virginia, North Carolina and New York." The Capital City Tobacco company is a Georgia corporation and is neither a trust nor a monopoly, says the letter to Mr. Vandiver.

It is also claimed that Mr. Vandiver's statement was "a deliberate attempt to mislead."

Immediate completion of the first unit of Girls' High school, at a cost of $365,000 of 1924 revenue, was voted unanimously by the board of education in special session Monday on motion of former President W. W. Gaines. Mr. Gaines was appointed chairman of a temporary finance and building committee.

"The board is morally obligated to the people of Atlanta to have Girls' High school ready for occupancy by September and council has promised to give us the money we need through a special tax," Mr. Gaines said. "We can depend on council to see us through."

The board's action is final and will not require ratification by council, because the money for the school is to be taken out of the 20 per cent of the city's income which the charter apportions to the board to spend at its own discretion. Formal adoption of the contract, however, will be necessary before the contractors can proceed with the work. This action is to be taken at the next regular meeting of the board.

Central Wing Under Way.

The central wing of the first unit of the school is being built. Contracts for it, totaling $128,500, were let jointly by the school board, bond commission and council last year, part of the money representing bond funds from the 1921 school bond issue and part representing appropriation by council. The first unit, which will be large enough to house all the present enrollment in Girls' High school, will cost $493,000. It is the difference between the "central wing," at $128,500, and the "first unit," at $403,000, that the board voted to appropriate Tuesday. The "central wing" includes only heating plant, administrative unit and classroom space. The completed high school, including a "second unit" and a "third unit," will cost $1,400,000. It is not planned to attempt to build the second and third units this year.

The board also voted to buy the

This action was in the form of a resolution, introduced by J. Henry Porter, prominent attorney, which was passed without a dissenting vote and signed by all present on Mr. Porter's motion. The motion was seconded by John K. Ottley, president of the Fourth National bank.

The resolution also called upon all friends of education in Atlanta to cooperate with the board in making the greatest possible use of the opportunity presented to Oglethorpe university through the generosity of Colonel and Mrs. Robert J. Lowry and Mr. and Mrs. Lupton.

GREGORY AND STRAWN
APPOINTED AS COUNSEL

Conference Will Be Held
as Soon as Gregory Reaches Washington.
Bitter Debate in Senate.

Washington, January 29.—President Coolidge tonight announced the selection of Silas H. Strawn, of Chicago, republican, and Thomas W. Gregory, of Austin, Texas, attorney-general in the Wilson administration, as special counsel to prosecute the government's cases growing out of the naval oil inquiry.

Mr. Strawn is a former president of the Illinois Bar association and of the Chicago Bar association and is at present chairman of the committee on legal education of the American Bar association. He conferred late today with the president, who has known him for some time.

Mr. Gregory was attorney general of the United States from August, 1914, to March, 1919. It was said at the white house that he would leave Austin for Washington tomorrow.

Will Hold Conference.

Both are expected to confer upon the arrival of Mr. Gregory the latter part of the week and in the light of evidence which has been adduced through the senate investigation and in other ways determine what action shall be taken and in what form, especially as to bringing civil or criminal actions. The two will hold equal rank and to them will be left the selection of their legal staffs.

At the white house, where announcement of the appointments were made orally, it was indicated that Mr. Strawn and Mr. Gregory would serve under the resolution pending in congress and be paid from funds provided in a special resolution in case the resolutions are adopted. In such case, it was said, senate confirmation of the appointments would be asked.

On the other hand, if by any chance at present unenforced, the resolutions should fail of final adoption, the two counsel, it was said, would serve probably as special assistant attorneys-general operating under the department of justice and be paid from the funds appropriated for that department. In the latter event, the White House view was said to be that senate confirmation would at least be unnecessary.

Guests of Payne.

Mr. Strawn, in company with Senator McCormick, republican, Illinois, was the guest at dinner tonight of John Barton Payne, one of the American commissioners to Mexico last year in the recognition negotiations, the two having been law partners in Chicago from 1903 to 1918. It was said that the president's invitation to be come special counsel in the oil lease cases was given Mr. Strawn yesterday in Chicago by William M. Butler, who is in charge of the Coolidge headquarters there. Mr. Strawn left immediately for Washington.

In his law work Mr. Strawn has engaged in general practice, he explained, although having few criminal cases. He never has been active in politics. He is 57 years of age.

Mr. Gregory has had wide experience in anti-trust prosecutions both in Texas and as a special assistant attorney-general of the United States before becoming attorney-general. He is 62 years of age.

FALL IS PLACED UNDER SURVEILLANCE.

Washington, January 29.—Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, was placed under the surveillance of department of justice agents at New Orleans on January 29, Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, declared today in the senate. Orders went out to the agents from the department, the senator said, not to permit him to leave the country "under any conditions."

This was the day before Archie Roosevelt gave his sensational testimony before the senate oil committee and at the time that President Coolidge had been advised in advance of the nature of that testimony by Chairman Lenroot.

Fall's Foreman Trained.

On the same day, Senator Willis said, department of justice agents at El Paso were directed to place under surveillance Thomas Johnson, foreman of Fall's ranch at Three Rivers, N. Mex., for whom a committee subpoena was issued that day and who now is in Washington. He was not to be permitted to leave the country.

The message, sent to George Shannon, department of justice agent at New Orleans, by W. J. Burns, director of the bureau of investigation, emphasized the necessity for secrecy under pain of dismissal.

Senator Walsh said before that message had been sent, he and Chairman Lenroot had telegraphed the governor of Louisiana asking that the state agencies be used to keep Secretary Fall under surveillance. The governor, replying, agreed to take the action requested, he added.

With reference to Agent Dennett at El Paso, Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, said he was an appointee of Mr. Fall and that the former agent there, an "excellent and capable" official, had been removed in order that he might be given the position.

Department Active.

Senator Willis read the telegram from Burns to Dennett and Shannon to show that the department of justice had been active in the matter of the oil lease developments. Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, wanted to know why they had not prevented Harry F. Sinclair from going to Europe.

Senator Willis declared that if any one wanted to make a fight on the attorney general and the department of justice, there would be an "interesting battle."

"I happen to know," he said, "that not only is the head of the department of justice not a man to run away from a fight, but that he is as clean as a bound's tooth."

POLITICAL BITTERNESS ENGENDERED BY FIGHT.

Washington, January 29.—The move for annulment of the naval oil leases proceeded slowly today in a thickening atmosphere of political bitterness.

The senate again failed to act on the Walsh annulment resolution after an all day debate in which the demand for the resignation of Secretary Denby was renewed and a similar attack was launched against Attorney General Daugherty.

During the day Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, enlarged the area of oil fields to be recovered by introducing a resolution to assert title to sections of naval oil lands in California now in possession of the Standard Oil company.

Taking note of the attacks on him, Secretary Denby, after attending the two hours' session of President Coolidge's cabinet, said he believed he had acted for the best in the oil transactions; that he would do the same thing again; and that he would not resign even if the Robinson resolution demanding that he do so were adopted.

At the cabinet meeting, the president and his advisers discussed in every detail the course of the administration.

Informed in Advance.

On the senate floor Chairman Lenroot, of the oil committee, revealed that Mr. Coolidge had been informed in advance of the sensational testimony given a week ago by Archie Roosevelt relating to charges of $98,000 payment to the foreman of former Secretary Fall's ranch.

Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, then stated that on the same day Mr. Fall and his foreman, Thomas Johnson, had been placed under surveillance by agents of the department of justice, who were instructed to prevent their departure from the country.

Advised that Mr. Fall was unable to appear before the committee because of a threatened nervous collapse, the oil committee decided to examine his physicians tomorrow before deciding whether to accept an invitation to question him in his sick room.

Harding Is Mentioned.

The senate's debate on political features of the oil disclosures, after centering most of the day about Mr. Coolidge and members of his cabinet, finally brought into the discussion the name of President Harding. Defending Mr. Harding for transferring control of the reserves to the interior department, Senator Willis declared the dead president would not knowingly have violated any law, and the statement was accepted on the democratic side.

Partisan charges and counter-charges also figured in a brief hour debate centering around a request by Secretary Daniels during the Wilson administration for congressional approval of the drilling of offset wells in the naval reserve.

As the senate proceeds with its debate tomorrow in the hope of reaching a vote before adjournment, the house naval committee will examine Secretary Denby and other naval officials and interior department officers with a view to determining whether the Sinclair and Doheny leases are in the best interests of the government.

A resolution similar to that offered by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, and proposing cancellation of the leases without going into the courts, was introduced by Representative Fairchild, republican, New York. The resolution declares the leases to be "fraudulent and against the public interest."

Fight Centered on Denby.

In all of this whirlpool of developments, the one element most frequently on the surface was the effort of the democrats to drive from the cabinet Secretary Denby, the one remaining officer whose signature is attached to the oil leases. In announcing he would not retire, Mr. Denby said he wanted a record vote on the Robinson resolution, and the democratic leader told the senate he would make every effort to obtain one as soon as possible.

Mr. Robinson also read into the record the navy secretary's statement that he would pursue the same course again in similar circumstances and demanded to know of Chairman Lenroot, of the oil committee, whether he approved Mr. Denby's action in consenting to the leases. Senator Lenroot replied that he did not, because he believed them illegal.

In a later statement Secretary Denby declared he was "profoundly convinced of the legality of the action" and also profoundly convinced that it was for the best interests of the United States. He contended also that he was carrying out the exact intent of congress in concerning the oil, which he said otherwise would have been completely or to a very great extent drained. Mr. Lenroot and other senators took an opposite view in the debate today, contending that the lease of the reserves was a question of policy which congress alone had the power to decide.

Claims Loss of Oil.

"The principal motive that actuated me," Mr. Denby said, "was that the oil was being lost to the government. Besides, it would have taken at least six months to deliver fuel oil to the navy from the ground to the coast. The purpose of providing for oil storage at sea, contemplated in the leases, was in order that there might be an instantly available war reserve of fuel for the fleet."

Advancing to the Robinson resolution, the secretary said:

"I do not believe there are enough votes in the senate to pass a resolution of that character, concerning a man who, so far as I know, has not been even suspected of any crooked dealings. There has been no intimation of malfeasance that I know of."

He declared also that he alone assumed responsibility for the navy department's part in the leasing and that no blame should attach to Assistant Secretary Roosevelt.

"Mr. Roosevelt is in no wise responsible for the action taken," he said.

Abandons Panama Trip.

Because of the turn of events which has brought him under congressional fire, Mr. Denby has abandoned his projected trip to Panama to witness the conclusion of the winter maneuvers of the United States fleet. He said tonight he would stay in Washington, available for any call that might come to him from any congressional committee.

Aside from the political features of the annulment debate today, which continued for six hours, touched many times upon the legal aspects of the leasing of the reserves, Chairman Lenroot, in a careful argument that was listened to attentively on both sides of the chamber for more than three hours, contended that the president's action in violation of law, congress should hesitate in making final declarations of such an assertion in any resolution adopted because that a question of the kind would be decided by the courts in the contemplated proceedings.

Supporting action of President Coolidge with respect to the initiation of the annulment proceedings, Senator Lenroot declared that when it came to the rectifying of any wrong done, politics should stop. For that reason, he said, he believed the president for doing the very thing that democratic senators, through the Walsh resolution, were seeking to compel him to do, failing attention that the president had consulted only with republican senators. Senator Walsh replied that he assumed from this that the president regarded "this as a political matter."

Will Not Affect Action.

"Because one who was a republican official is involved in these charges," Senator Lenroot rejoined, "will not alter the degree of belief in the action either of the president or senators on this side of the aisle."

Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, said he regarded "the republican party" as responsible for the present situation and reiterated that he had the impression and the conviction that there had been an arrangement regarding the oil leases before the 1920 election.

This brought a sharp rejoinder from Senator Willis, who declared there were those in the senate and out "who will prosecute an occasion of the kind for the sake of political purposes." Declaring that President Harding had made an error when he transferred the reserves from the navy to the interior, Mr. Willis said he knew the dead president well enough to know that he never did anything which he thought was not for the good of the people.

"I cast no reflection on President Harding," said Senator Heflin. "I was fond of him. But the memory of a president passed the way that all of us must go can not stifle the truth in this colossal fraud."

Walsh's Resolution.

As the day's debate was concluding, Senator Walsh introduced the new resolution which would direct the secretary of the interior to institute immediate suits to assert title to Sections 16 and 36 in naval reserve, number 1, in California, now held by the Standard Oil Company of California.

As school lands these sections passed to the federal government upon accession to statehood and the federal government sought to determine for many years whether the sections were known at the time they were transferred to the state.

Suits looking to the regaining of title were brought, but decisions adverse to the government were rendered in the lower courts and an appeal was not taken within the legal time limit. A move was made late in the Wilson administration to institute new court proceedings, and it has been charged in the course of the present investigation that Secretary Fall dismissed the whole case upon an ex-parte hearing granted to counsel for the Standard Oil company, which received its lease from California state authorities.

Hit at Daugherty.

Another resolution, offered by Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, has for its purpose the removal from the cabinet of Attorney General Daugherty because of a failure of the department of justice to begin prosecution both in the oil leases and against officials and others charged with wrong doings in connection with the vetting of naval reserves. This resolution recites that the attorney general has lost the confidence both of congress and of the American people, and measures went over under the rules.

Just before adjournment the senate received from the house the resolution appropriating $100,000 for the employment of counsel in the annulment proceedings, and Chairman Lenroot referred it to the appropriations committee. Inquiring whether President Coolidge proposed to submit for senate confirmation the name of the counsel to be selected, Mr. Lenroot Walsh said that unless the executive did so he would be constrained to offer an amendment to the appropriation, which would prohibit expenditures for lawyers whom the senate had not approved.

Chairman Lenroot replied that he assumed the president would submit $100,000 in case of total disability resulting from accidents caused within the terms of the policy.

Here's today's illustration of the value of insurance issued by The Constitution:

Dorothy Adams, colored, of rear 341 West Peachtree, Atlanta, was injured in an auto accident on December 2, 1923, the accident occurring at West Peachtree and Third streets. One auto ran into another, breaking her collar bone, which caused a total disability of four weeks, and on January 24, 1924, she was paid $40.

Particulars of both insurance offers will be supplied upon application to The Constitution's insurance department.

BOOK'S SECRETARY BALKS PROBERS

Washington, January 29.—The senate committee investigating propaganda met again today, devoted all hour to further examination of Miss Esther Everett Lape regarding the Bok peace award, and then went into executive session to decide if the steps for handling plans under the award could be within the purview of the committee's instructions.

Miss Lape, who had hesitated to proceed with description of the peace award, at the direction of Chairman Moses, was excused until tomorrow, when the hearing will be resumed.

At the opening of the hearing, Chairman Moses directed Miss Lape to turn over all documents which she had been requested to turn over at the last session of the committee. Miss Lape said she desired to explain the documents and proceeded to outline the general method by which the jury of award at its final session deliberated over seventy-seven plans, divided into seven "dominant groups," and from which the winning plan was chosen.

Miss Lape declared after the announcement of Mr. Bok's peace award had been made public "through a leak," her office began to receive plans, but that as conditions of the award had not been then made public, they were returned with the request that they again be submitted when the rules were formulated.

When Senator Moses asked for details of the handling of the plans after they were received, the witness expressed the opinion that this did not come within the committee's jurisdiction and she was supported by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas.

"How the jury handled its own work is of no consequence," Miss Lape said. "The way in which the plans were handled would serve no useful purpose only to satisfy curiosity and disgruntled contestants."

GEORGIA STOCK JUDGES ESTABLISH HIGH SCORE

Athens, Ga., January 29.—(Special.)—Live stock judging teams sent from Georgia to the international live stock exposition in Chicago, for the past four years stand first in the competition with states in this country according to figures given out by B. H. Heide, secretary of Paul W. Chapman, state supervisor of agricultural education.

Georgia is the only southern state in the first 10 for the four-year average. Iowa stands second, Minnesota third, Illinois fourth, and Michigan fifth.

Georgia boys, who have constituted the teams, have been students of vocational agriculture in district schools and have made the trip to Chicago in charge of L. M. Sheffer, assistant supervisor of agricultural education.

In 1920 the Georgia team ranked first in the national contest. This year they stood first in the judging of cattle and sixth in the general average for all classes of live stock. Their rank over the four-year period is fourth.

Power Company's Earnings Show 15.28 Per Cent Increase

The Georgia Railway & Power company had net earnings for 1923 of $5,373,171.27, as compared to $4,661,107.55 in 1922, according to its annual report filed Tuesday with the Georgia public service commission. The percentage of increase in net earnings for the year is given as 15.28 in the report.

After deducting $1,003,986.39 for leased properties, and $1,032,946.34 for owned properties, the company shows a net income for 1923 of $3,336,184.48.

The Atlanta street railway department had a total income for the year of $1,400,929.51, in excess of its operating expenses, the report shows. U. S. STEEL USED FOR GIANT SPANISH MILL

A 34-car train of steel mill plant electrical equipment was shipped from West Pittsburg Monday by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company to the Metallurgical company of the Mediterranean, Sagunto, Spain, according to information received here Tuesday by Marshall Adams, local representative of the Westinghouse company with offices at 127 Peachtree street.

The total value of the shipment exceeds $500,000, and is part of a development costing many millions, and for which more than $2,000,000 was spent in the United States. The shipment proceeded to Port Richmond, Philadelphia, where it will be loaded for the sea voyage.

The equipment is for use in the new Sagunto plant, which when completed, will be one of the most modern in the world. Plans for the plant were designed by Frank C. Roberts, Philadelphia consulting engineer. It will compose the first complete electrically equipped modern steel rolling mill plant in Spain, and is a marked step in the industrial progress of that nation. Mr. Adams pointed out.

Here's Added Proof For You

"Every day, in every way" the proof that it's wise to be protected under The Constitution's unparalleled Group Reader Life and Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance offers grows more and more apparent.

This applies to YOU, for protection from both life and accident insurance viewpoints has been brought easily within the means of every man, woman and child in Georgia as a result of The Constitution's remarkable opportunities.

You can secure a $500 Group Reader Life Insurance policy—the only life insurance offer made by any Atlanta newspaper—for only 10 cents per week, depending upon the type of protection desired. This is the cheapest life protection on record—and it is backed by The Constitution's reputation of over half a century of unquestioned business integrity.

You can secure a $1,000 Travel and Pedestrian Accident policy for only $1 per year to the price of an annual subscription to The Daily and Sunday Constitution. This policy provides payment of $10 per week in case of total disability resulting from accidents caused within the terms of the policy.

Here's today's illustration of the value of insurance issued by The Constitution:

Dorothy Adams, colored, of rear 341 West Peachtree, Atlanta, was injured in an auto accident on December 2, 1923, the accident occurring at West Peachtree and Third streets. One auto ran into another, breaking her collar bone, which caused a total disability of four weeks, and on January 24, 1924, she was paid $40.

Particulars of both insurance offers will be supplied upon application to The Constitution's insurance department.

GIFTS THAT LAST

COMMITTEE HEARS BITTER CHARGES

Descriptions of the Georgia Railway and Power company varying from most cordial praise as an organization of "public-spirited men striving to unselfishly serve" Atlanta, to scathing criticism and denunciation of its owners as "hypocrites who would carry public partnership only for private gain," characterized the fourth public hearing Tuesday night on the Georgia Railway and Power company's petition to council asking for remedies for an alleged critical financial situation.

Dr. Thorneil Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe university, urged granting of the petition, reviewing the history of public equity for utility corporations and declaring that the public, little by little, has throttled the enterprise which is serving it and is inducing itself by its unfriendly and un-intelligent attitude.

Attorney Myer Goldberg voiced opposite sentiments, charging an ulterior motive in the power company's plea to the public. He said that the petition should have been carried directly to the public service commission if it were meritorious and that the company was setting a trap for the public by making a popular appeal.

Among other speakers was Mrs. E. N. (Mother) Gibbs who opposed any restrictions on jitney bus operators, declaring that they were for the most part World War veterans and should be shown every consideration. S. A. Gardner, Confederate veteran, also opposed the petition. L. N. Parks, who said that he had once operated a 10-car jitney line, declared that the business would not pay and that it would eliminate itself. He urged granting increased fares to meet cars. Several others voiced opinions, pro and con.

Company's Petition.
The street car company several weeks ago submitted a petition to council asking 10-cent cash fares, tickets to be sold three for 20 cents, 2-cent transfer charge, elimination of jitneys from streets on which the company has franchise, reduction of gross receipts tax, relief from paying assessments, routing of cars and lines, as scheduled to improve service, and strict enforcement of traffic laws.

A special committee composed of J. R. Buchanan, J. L. Wells, W. C. Jenkins, J. A. Beil and J. L. McLeod was appointed from council to hear from the public and recommend what action council should take. A firm of auditors is now at work on the power company's books to ascertain the exact financial condition of the company.

Company Scored For Explosion Costing 33 Lives

Johnston City, Ill., January 29.—A coroner's jury which investigated the deaths of 33 men in an explosion at the East Side mine of the Crerar-Clinch Coal company last Friday, today returned a verdict censuring the company.

The verdict said the explosion was caused by a "squeeze" and a fall of coal in an old working. Danger signs had been posted, but removed, and the verdict said the jury "condemned the action of the coal company and its management that participated in the removal" of the signs.

DOPE RING HIT, POLICE BELIEVE, IN BONE'S ARREST

Atlanta's "dope ring," in the opinion of police officials, was given another vital blow Tuesday night when a raid on the apartment of Henry Bone, 27, of 396 Piedmont avenue, netted morphine, cocaine and various paraphernalia valued at between $2,000 and $3,000. Bone is held without bond and his wife is under surveillance at the Piedmont avenue apartment.

The raid was made by Detectives E. M. Cason and W. D. McGee, acting under orders of Captain A. J. Holcomb. They forced their way into the apartment and instituted the search at Bone's invitation, they said. The supply of drugs was found hidden beneath a window seat in the dining room of the apartment.

Police are of the opinion that the place has been the depot through which many "dope" peddlers of this city have been obtaining supplies. Bone will be held for federal officers.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS IN BLOCK BUILDING

A fire of unknown origin yesterday afternoon threatened the entire Frank E. Block building, corner North Pryor and Alabama streets, and damaged stores and offices located in the building to the extent of $15,000. Prompt arrival of the fire department materially lessened the damage by flames. It was pointed out, and most of the damage was the result of smoke and water.

The fire first burst out in the Beall-Jeffries company printing offices, on the second floor, firemen stated, and threatened to spread to the whole structure. The department had been unable to determine the source of the conflagration late Tuesday night.

Besides the Beall-Jeffries office, losses were suffered by the National market, Carlos Soda company, Crown Candy company and the J. E. Hanger company. Losses were partially covered by insurance.

No Ostentation Greets Arrival Of U. S. Experts

Berlin, January 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The first expert repair commission under its American chairman, Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes, reached Berlin from Paris tonight. There was no official reception at the railway station when the delegates alighted from the regular express, and the committee immediately motored to their hotel.

Germany's hopes of reaching a tolerable and final solution of her reparations problem center in the forthcoming discussions here of the committee and the second body of experts, expected from Paris shortly, with Germany's official spokesmen.

No program for the deliberations to be carried out in Berlin by General Dawes' committee has been agreed upon, although in official quarters it is assumed that further discussion of the projected bank of emission will constitute the first topic on its agenda.

McCord's Bulletin

Madison Avenue Extension

Every day makes it clearer that the opening of Spring street to Brookwood and the construction of the viaduct connecting it with the Terminal station have done great things for Atlanta.

Traffic on this viaduct is already three times that of the Forsyth street bridge and the statement has been made that a count of vehicles passing over Spring street at Carnegie Way shows 82 per cent of the traffic on Peachtree at the Howard theater.

There is congestion at the intersection of Madison avenue and Mitchell street, but relief will come from the extension of Madison avenue to Whitehall and the opening of the Hunter street approaches, which will carry traffic from the viaduct to the shopping district.

The opening of Madison avenue to Whitehall will complete a great thoroughfare extending all the way from Buckhead to College Park.

This will be of immense value to local traffic and will become an important part of the great highways from the north and west through Atlanta to Florida and Alabama.

This will not only be a public benefit but will add to the value of real estate fronting Madison avenue, especially where the extension is to be made.

The public and the property owners are to be congratulated on the fact that the city and county governments have provided for the work this year.

When Is Coffee Best?

"I enjoy Coffee most at breakfast," says one. "I like it best when I am tired and dull," says another. "It is a wonderful thing to clear the cobwebs from the brain."

Coffee is good for different purposes at different times, but, other things being equal, we may answer the question by saying: "Coffee is best when it is Empire."

WOMEN OPEN FIRE ON REPUBLICANS

Cleveland, Ohio, January 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Echoes of the Teapot Dome investigation in Washington, together with prediction that the incident would be touched upon more directly tomorrow, were heard here today at the opening sessions of the school of democracy attended by democratic women from seven middle-western states.

Mrs. A. E. Bergland, chairman of the Illinois democratic women's committee, was the first to touch upon the investigation, declaring the revelations had been particularly interesting to democratic women. Her statement, made in the course of a speech, was followed by announcement of Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, of Missouri, vice chairman of the democratic national committee, that the keynote of her speech tomorrow night would be the Teapot Dome investigation and its possible effect on the coming campaign.

Nothing can prevent the democratic party from making the incident a campaign issue, Mrs. Blair declared, adding that "the Teapot Dome scandal, as rotten as it is, will be only a small blot of ink on a piece of paper in contrast to the revelations that are to come."

"There will be a far reaching investigation of other activities of the party in power," she declared, "which will be punished for its incompetency by the loss of power at the next election."

Declaring that the party "that gets the women organized will be successful in 1924," Mrs. Blair in opening the meeting said its aim would be to make women effective in politics. The gathering, however, has no delegated authority to take any direct action on policies or commit the party to any project, she pointed out.

Brunswick, Ga., January 29.—(Special.)—The body of a man, 58, a white man, was found this afternoon badly mutilated in the woods a short distance from a trestle on which he was last seen with a negro. Bunkley left the place where he was working six miles from this city the day before Christmas bound for his home carrying with him Christmas fruits and candies for his family. He also had what was left of his weekly payroll.

Nothing further was heard of the man until this afternoon when his body was discovered in the woods a short distance from where he was last seen with every evidence that he had been murdered and robbed.

He was shot through the head and had evidently been beaten and dragged from the railroad track, on which he was walking. The man's head was found some four or five feet from his body.

An inquest was started and this afternoon when officers sought the negro to question him he could not be found. A shotgun, believed to be the one with which the man was shot, was found at the negro's home.

WEEKS DECLARES ARMY AIR SERVICE IS FREE OF GRAFT

Washington, January 29.—A demand in the house today for investigation of the army air service was followed by a statement by Secretary Weeks showing that claims totaling $22,581,080 against war-time airplane contractors already have been turned over to the department of justice for collection in the courts. Up to January 28, he said, the refunds actually made by contractors amounted to $1,830,423.

The investigation proposal was embodied in a resolution by Representative Nelson, republican, Wisconsin, who said he had been informed that conditions in the air service amounted to a continuation of the same conditions that obtained during the war.

The methods of the Manufacturers Aircraft Association, Inc., were declared by Mr. Nelson to be in his opinion in violation of the anti-trust law, but Mr. Weeks pointed out that in 1917 the attorney general ruled to the contrary.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR HOLLAND

Funeral services for Frank D. Holland, prominent Atlanta business man who died early Tuesday morning, were held yesterday afternoon from the residence, 58 West Eleventh street. The body was taken to Danville, Va., Mr. Holland's boyhood home, for interment.

Mr. Holland's death is attributed to pneumonia, which he contracted last Thursday, and was a shock to his many friends here, as he was in splendid health before being stricken last week.

Mr. Holland had been assistant manager of the southern division of the Queen Insurance company for 18 years, and had been connected with the concern for 25 years. He was one of the south's foremost authorities on insurance and was widely known in general business circles.

Federal Agents Spent $205,658 To Buy Evidence

Washington, January 29.—Federal agents in their efforts last year to enforce the prohibition and narcotic laws spent $205,658 of government funds in buying evidence.

This total was given by Assistant Prohibition Commissioner Jones in testimony before the house appropriations committee which today recommended that $10,629,770 be set aside for prohibition enforcement during the coming fiscal year.

Mr. Jones said the agents need marked money whenever possible which they got back sometimes. The amount of liquor an agent must buy to clinch his case, he said, depends on the bootlegger, and runs from a half pint to a carload.

"Does the prohibition agent drink the whiskey when he buys it?" asked Chairman Madden.

"Sometimes he has to," replied Mr. Jones, "in order to make a second buy to use as evidence."

"So the agent," remarked Mr. Madden, "is usually not a prohibitionist."

"Some of them," Mr. Jones came back, "have to drink."

GEORGIAN'S REQUEST FOR AID GRANTED

Washington, January 29.—(Special.)—The amendment to the Norbeck-Burnett bill, agreed to by the senate agriculture committee, which provides an additional $25,000,000 for relief of southern farmers beside the $50,000,000 in the bill for western farmers, was secured by Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, a member of the committee, upon suggestion by Senator George of Georgia.

Senator George was anxious that the measure, which has the approval of President Coolidge, be extended to southern farmers. The money is to be used to finance live-stock purchases by farmers in the north in diversification, to get away from the "one crop" farming, wheat in the west and cotton in the south.

Lewis of the appointive power conferred on him by the miners' constitution. The total vote, after Illinois' vote had been taken, was 1,528 to 1,475.

America Resumes Her Diplomatic Pact With Greece

Washington, January 29.—Diplomatic relations between the United States and Greece were resumed today when Secretary Hughes received M. Tsamados, Greek representative in Washington, as charge d'affaires and instructed Ray Atherton, who has been unofficially in charge of American affairs at Athens to act as charge d'affaires ad interim to the Greek government.

It is expected that the accrediting of a minister will await decision by Greece of the constitutional question under consideration in Athens.

Relations were severed in 1920 after the death of King Alexander and the return to Athens of Constantine. The regime which followed the latter was regarded as based frankly upon the support of its political enemies confirmed by elections. Recent elections now, however, have resulted in the establishment of a government in such a way as to gain the United States to extend formal recognition, although the question of whether a republican or monarchical form of government shall be established is yet to be decided at Athens.

In view of the special circumstances which attended Constantine's return to Athens in 1920, the state department deemed it important before according recognition to take into account not only the part that Constantine had played in the war but also the policy of the new regime with regard to the acts and obligations of its predecessor and the attitude towards the American and allied powers in the war.

DAVIDSON RAISES $675,000 IN DRIVE

Charlotte, N. C., January 29.—With a total of $675,000 subscribed, the Davidson college campaign for $800,000 conducted in North Carolina and Georgia during the past 18 months has been closed officially, it was announced here today by Malcolm Lockhart, of Atlanta, who directed the campaign under the auspices of the executive committee of Christian education of the Southern Presbyterian church.

Of the total amount subscribed, $295,000 came from North Carolina Presbyterians, $85,000 from the alumni of Davidson, $110,000 from Georgia Presbyterians and $100,000 from Charlotte and Mecklenburg county Presbyterians, according to Mr. Lockhart.

Of the fund $200,000 is to be added to the endowment, and $400,000 used in construction of the new Chambers building to replace the structure burned about two years ago.

Lockhart said that the new building will be a continuation of the same conditions which existed during the darkest days of the black scandal in the air service now exists in those services and that the provisions they got those previous contracts.

He declared the air service is conducting a propaganda "over mountain and sea, desert and valley, in order to try to force congress, through an aroused public sentiment, to appropriate more money than the officials of the air service seem to feel comfortable in willing to appropriate upon a proper presentation to it of the needs of the service," and he asked:

"Is this the purpose of the proposed flight of the dirigible to the north pole?"

Orme-Huger Wedding Is Followed By Brilliant Reception at Club

The marriage of Miss Sarah Cobb Orme and William Elliott Huger, of Charleston, S. C., was solemnized Tuesday evening, January 29, at 8:30 o'clock at the Ponce de Leon Baptist church, uniting two of the south's distinguished families and assembling a notable group of Atlanta society at the brilliant reception which followed the ceremony at the Piedmont Driving club.

Decorations at Church.

The interior of the church presented a scene of tropical beauty, the huge gothic arches being hung with garlands of southern holly and the tall columns supporting the arches being topped with stately palms which extended to the ceiling. The pulpit was banked with palms and woodwardia ferns, which also extended to the ceiling, entirely concealing the organ and choir loft. Directly in front of the tropical background two cathedral candelabra, placed on standards, alternated with two tall floor vases filled with yellow calla lilies. Placed throughout the church at intervals and flanking the aisles were wide white standards holding in effective arrangement quantities of callulias, yellow Marguerites, snapdragons and anthuriums, the shades of blue and gold predominating. Clusters of the same lovely flowers interspersed the background of green. Palms and ferns were grouped at the entrance of the church.

Musical Program.

A musical program was rendered during the assembling of the guests. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the bridal party entered. The ushers were Dr. Bates Block, Walter T. Colquitt, William H. Kiser, James Fisk, Clark Hixrud, Sr., Marion Smith, cousin of the bride; Adjutant General Charles Harman Cox, cousin of the bride, and Joel Hurt, Jr.

Bridal Party.

The bridesmaids entered in pairs down the two side aisles of the church, alternating with the groomsmen, who also entered in pairs down the same aisles. Miss Bonnie Nixon came in with Miss Martha Boynton, Miss Jeanie Robinson with Miss Helen Campbell, of Alexandria, Va., and Miss Sue Bucknell with Miss Ruth Channon, of Chicago.

The bridesmaids were gowned alike in exquisite models of imported gold net over a foundation of American Beauty chiffon. Their gowns were fashioned on side, with long lines, the only trimming being small flat bows of gold ribbon placed across the back at the waistline. A flounce of gold lace finished the bottom of the skirts, and the dresses had the fashionable round neck and were sleeveless. Completing the lovely costumes were arm bouquets of yellow acacias, white lilies and coral shaded sweet peas.

Junior Bridesmaids.

Entering next were the junior bridesmaids, Miss Jacqueline Cobb Moore and Miss Marion Cobb Bryan, young cousins of the bride. Their frocks were gold net over chiffron, finished with a ruche of gold ribbon at the low waistline in the back. They carried small bouquets of the same flowers used by the bridesmaids. The groomsmen were Dan Huger, of Charleston; Edward M. Manigault, of Charleston; Frederick Fisk, of Florida, and A. J. Orme, Jr.

Maid of Honor.

Down the center aisle came the maid of honor, Miss Cornelia Orme, young sister of the bride, followed by another sister, Miss Callie Orme, the maid of honor. Their charming costumes were of gold lace over gold foundations, the only adornment being loops of gold ribbon which extended from the waistline at the back to the hem line. They carried shower arm bouquets of yellow acacias and coral shaded sweet peas. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Aquilla Johns Orme, and entered down the center aisle, being met at the altar by the groom and his best man, James Comer, of Charleston. Edward Albert Burdett, of Norfolk, Va., young brother of the groom, was junior best man.

Beautiful Bride.

The beauty of the charming bride was enhanced by her wedding gown of ivory Callot satin, which was distinctive in its simplicity of line and finish. It was built along the fashionable straight lines, made round neck and sleeveless and devoid of trimming except for the handsome rose point lace which adorned the veil and covered the long court train of satin. The veil of tulle was banded across the forehead with the lace which further outlined the veil almost to the end. Small clusters of orange blossoms outlined the remaining length of veil. The bride's flowers were a shower bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Reception Follows Ceremony.

Following the church ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Aquilla Johns Orme entertained at an elaborate reception at the Piedmont Driving club.

The ballroom of the club was decorated for the occasion with masses of palms and large woodwardia ferns arranged in three groups, two at the entrance and one at the further end of the room. The graceful arches were hung with garlands of smilax. The bride's table was beautifully appointed and elegant in detail. Surrounding a large silver-rimmed mirror and placed in the center was a miniature bride and groom, the mirror having been used at the time the bride's great-grandmother became the bride of Joseph Henry Lumpkin, the first chief justice of Georgia. Over the whole centerpiece was built a white pergola whose arches were twined with golden acacias, blue violets and roses. Silver candelabra, which also belonged to the bride's great-grandmother and were used at her wedding, stood at either end of the table.

Receiving Party.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Orme, the bride and groom and the wedding party were Mrs. L. G. Daingerfield, mother of the groom, and Dan Huger, of Charleston, S. C., uncle of the groom.

Mrs. Orme was handsomely gowned in blue velvet with gold head embroidery. Her corsage bouquet was of orchids.

Mrs. Daingerfield wore an imported model of gray velvet. Completing the costume was a corsage bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Shepard Ryan, aunt of the bride, wore a modish gown of king's blue georgette trimmed in velvet flowers.

Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Sr., another aunt, was an attractive figure in black and silver.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Huger left for a wedding journey and on their return will be at home with Mr. and Mrs. Orme at their home on Peachtree street.

Bride's Traveling Gown.

The bride's traveling costume was a smart model of blue serge trimmed in narrow stripes of black patent leather. A modish hat of black straw with patent leather trimmings completed the costume.

Prominent Families.

Mrs. Huger is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aquilla Johns Orme. Since her formal entrance last winter in society she has been an acknowledged favorite in exclusive circles. Ever since her school days in Washington seminary and later at National Cathedral school in Washington she has received marks of social and academic distinction at the hands of her fellow students. Through her mother, the former Miss Callie Jackson, she is a granddaughter of the late Captain Harry Jackson, and his wife, the former Miss Sarah Cobb, for whom she was named.

On her paternal side, she is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. J. NEVER before has a color range been so extensive—such a play to overshadow the rainbow itself. But, then, rainbows can't mix colors and manufacture new shadings. . . . Where is the rainbow that would not be scandalized with such a list of colors as Pigtail Blue, Barley Tan, Artichoke Green, Gypsy Red, Badger Tan, Ginger Brown—and then here is Reseda Green, Pearl Florentine, Navy and Black.

And you may choose your decorative effects from a list equally limitless . . . laces—fine cotton and silk laces—silk embroidery, chiffon puffs and silk braid bindings. . . . Crepe and satin fabrics of recent popularity have found a renewed welcome with the advent of spring.

U. D. C. Crosses of Service May be Awarded to Women

BY MRS. MCCORD ROBERTS.
United Daughters of the Confederacy may award crosses of service to women as well as to men who saw service in the world war, if the recommendations passed at the executive board meeting of the Georgia division on Tuesday are accepted by the division at the next meeting of the state convention. Decision to offer the recommendation followed a spirited debate regarding the rules surrounding award of these badges of distinction, the rule of the General U. D. C. specifying that crosses of service shall be given to men and descendants of Confederate soldiers and sailors. The recommendation, offered by Mrs. Walter Lamar, of Macon, would make women who saw valiant service eligible also.

Date of the first award of crosses of service was set for Memorial day and the occasion will be made of note by formal and elaborate ceremonies conducted by all chapters in the division. Every member of the executive board pledged personal backing to this method of signifying the splendid part played in the world war by men of Confederate lineage and each member of the board will sponsor the bestowal of one or more awards next Memorial day.

These crosses of service were designed at their bestowal planned by southern men of outstanding valor who saw conspicuous service in France and who planned this method of emphasizing the part the Confederate states took in upholding the nation's honor during the late war.

First bestowal was made at the General U. D. C. convention in Washington in November, 1923, and Major General Bullard and Major Streeter, U. S. A., and Alabama men by birth, were recipients. The design of the cross shows the cross of the Confederacy to the southern cross of honor and inscribed with appropriate wording.

Mrs. Harold Present.
Mrs. Frank Harrell, president-general of the U. D. C., was a distinguished guest at the meeting, presided over by Mrs. Walter Grace, of Macon, President of the Georgia division.

Mrs. Harrell's address at the afternoon session, Mrs. Harrell headed the U. D. C. committee which conferred with the trustees of Washington and Lee university on Lee's birthday regarding the final disposition of Lee Chapel, the south's most sacred shrine. The success which attended Mrs. Harrell's efforts to have this chapel preserved intact met with the hearty commendation of the 25 leaders of the Georgia division who gathered in Macon to attend the board meeting.

Atlanta's Cyclopaedia will be used as a repository for an important collection of Confederate relics to be made under the direction of Mrs. John A. Perdue, of Atlanta. Mrs. Perdue is a member of the research committee of city council, having been appointed by Mayor Sims and given authority to collect relics for permanent adornment of the Cyclopaedia. Mrs. Perdue's collection, which will be made with the help of U. D. C. chapters throughout the state, is destined for final housing at Stone Mountain. The Cyclopaedia will provide fireproof safekeeping until such time as the depository at Stone Mountain is ready for their reception. It was also decided that each year at the state convention Mrs. Martin shall be authorized to place on exhibition on historical evenings the relics of particular interest to U. D. C. members.

Mrs. John A. Perdue asked of the chapters composing the Georgia division a special contribution for the purpose of providing new screens for all doors and windows at the Soldiers' Home, declaring that in all other respects the home was well cared for. Superintendent Wm. E. McAllister was highly complimented by Mrs. Perdue, who is a member of the board of trustees of the Soldiers' Home.

Mrs. T. T. Stevens, of Atlanta, was

of note by formal and elaborate ceremonies conducted by all chapters in the division. Every member of the executive board pledged personal backing to this method of signifying the splendid part played in the world war by men of Confederate lineage and each member of the board will sponsor the bestowal of one or more awards next Memorial day.

The Cyclopaedia will provide fireproof safekeeping until such time as the depository at Stone Mountain is ready for their reception. It was also decided that each year at the state convention Mrs. Martin shall be authorized to place on exhibition on historical evenings the relics of particular interest to U. D. C. members.

Mrs. John A. Perdue asked of the chapters composing the Georgia division a special contribution for the purpose of providing new screens for all doors and windows at the Soldiers' Home, declaring that in all other respects the home was well cared for. Superintendent Wm. E. McAllister was highly complimented by Mrs. Perdue, who is a member of the board of trustees of the Soldiers' Home.

Mrs. T. T. Stevens, of Atlanta, was

of note by formal and elaborate ceremonies conducted by all chapters in the division. Every member of the executive board pledged personal backing to this method of signifying the splendid part played in the world war by men of Confederate lineage and each member of the board will sponsor the bestowal of one or more awards next Memorial day.

These crosses of service were designed at their bestowal planned by southern men of outstanding valor who saw conspicuous service in France and who planned this method of emphasizing the part the Confederate states took in upholding the nation's honor during the late war.

First bestowal was made at the General U. D. C. convention in Washington in November, 1923, and Major General Bullard and Major Streeter, U. S. A., and Alabama men by birth, were recipients. The design of the cross shows the cross of the Confederacy to the southern cross of honor and inscribed with appropriate wording.

Mrs. Harold Present.
Mrs. Frank Harrell, president-general of the U. D. C., was a distinguished guest at the meeting, presided over by Mrs. Walter Grace, of Macon, President of the Georgia division.

INSTALLMENT 33.

An Accident.
"If you only knew," said Peter Armstrong, his handsome eyes looking directly into those of Prudence and his voice low and vibrant with a note she had not heard before, "if you only knew the freshness, the inspiration that a girl like you could bring into a man's life, you would never dare to call yourself names again."

"Freshness? Inspiration?" And Bert Traymore had already tired of her! She could scarcely credit what Peter Armstrong said! She wanted desperately to believe it, and she knew he wasn't insincere, or a payer of idle, empty compliments, but—

Prudence's heart thrilled to the words. She told herself that this strange, electric excitement was because of Bert. . . that if one man, and he as famous as Peter Armstrong, found her an inspiration, there might be hope that Bert would feel that fascination, and return to her.

The girl did not realize the full magnetism of Peter's personality. Her reaction had been to Peter, and not to the absent Bert. Miss Prudence had a good deal to learn about herself, if the truth be told.

She stood there in the dusty laboratory, looking up at Peter with pretty eyes, a picture sweet enough to warm the heart of any man.

Peter was human. This trusting child had filled his thoughts considerably of late, more than he yet fully realized. She was so different from the women he had known. So different from that one who once had hurt him terribly. . . and yet there was a curve of cheek, a wave of hair, the upward lift of long, thick lashes, a strange reminder—

It filled him with an agony of memory, and yet an odd, inexplicable hope. Could a man love a second time? What words were these? That she had dragged from him, almost against his will? "Freshness?" "Inspiration?"

Put only realizing that he did it, he put out his hand and touched her wrist. . . the little wrist that was so fragile-looking, and yet so capable.

"Prudence! We're . . . friends, aren't we?" The words seemed dragged from him.

She nodded dumbly. Heaven knew she needed a real friend. . . if Peter Armstrong meant it. (Did he, though?)

According to Virginia's creed, the one sure way to "put a man off" another girl was to claim him as a friend before the time was ripe for teasing. Of course he wasn't serious yet about this Page chit, but she—Virginia—would get the good work in, in time.

Peter looked at her with a twinkle in his eyes.

"And who constituted you our chaperone?"

She hated that insinuation, giving her the weight of years.

And so at once she tried another tact, that of flattering interest in his work.

"Oh, do show me how the little wheels go round!" She skipped over to the central table, eyeing the friction discs. "What's that messy stuff, Peter?"

"Not an aid to beauty," he grinned. (Oh! had he recognized her, after all, on that unfortunate encounter at the Towers when Virginia's face hid his own?)

"Up till now, she'd quite convinced herself he hadn't. But this hint pointed otherwise. Wretched little Lucia must have given the show away!"

"Do show me the experiment," she urged, to hide her confusion.

"All right. It's quite simple. Mixing ingredients. . . So, I start spinning the disc. . . then pour the mixture on. . . Peter's hand shook a little with suppressed amusement at Virginia's antics, so that he poured too much of the greasy mixture on one of the little discs, and off the messy compound flew at a tangent, splattering the enthusiast's snow-white frock, white shoes and stockings and even the new white hat and peach-blond complexion with a long, muddy trail!

Tomorrow's installment brings an unexpected meeting.

Joe Jackson Denies Part in Baseball Scandal

Sporting Writers Testify That Shoeless Joe Played His Best in Famous Series

Milwaukee, Wis., January 29.—Joe Jackson, former Chicago American outfielder, today denied on the witness stand that he was implicated in the "throwing" of the 1919 world's series to the Cincinnati Nationals. Jackson is suing the White Sox for $18,500, the amount he alleges would have been paid for his participation in the series. He was released from prison under a ten-day release clause which he claims he did not know was in the contract.

The former outfielder declared that Lefty Williams, a team mate, came to him after the series and gave him an envelope containing $5,000 at his feet as Jackson's share of the money. Jackson said he was "thrilled" by the money and that he was angry and demanded of Williams what he meant. Williams, according to Jackson's testimony, replied that Jackson's name was used in the

WILL ADOPT ROCKNE'S SYSTEM

By Walter Camp.
(Copyright, 1924, by The Constitution.)

New York, January 29.—Harvard, according to her new football captain, Malcolm Greenough, proposes to take a leaf out of Knute Rockne's book. He has notified the Crimson candidates that, like Rockne's Notre Dame players, they will have to put twelve months' concentration on the game, and while not playing it must "think" it.

Well, anything that a man wishes to do better than any one else in the world is worth thinking about—and to make himself perfect at it, he must concentrate a good part of his waking thought upon it.

Harvard also is following the example of Yale and Princeton in putting her football men into boxing. It only remains for the athletic committee to approve the step—one wonders whether the headlines in the newspapers upon the appointment of Fielding H. Yost as professor of the theory and practice of athletic coaching will entirely please Michigan's veteran football men.

"Hurry Up! Yost now a professor!" However, the honor is a deserved one, and the director of athletics will now hold a full academic ranking on the campus.

The American bowling congress tournament, beginning in Chicago, February 23, will bring together no less than 13,000 bowlers to compete for a prize list totalling over $90,000.

Baumgartner, the Cincinnati winner of last year's singles, with a mark of 724, is slated to defend his title.

World's Record Broken at Meet

New York, January 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—One world's record was broken, the United States was victorious in two out of three international meets with Canada and western relay stars conquered eastern rivals tonight in the outstanding events of the first night's program of the two-night Milrose's A. A. track and field carnival in Madison Square Garden.

The meet has attracted a field of more than 1,000 entries, representing school, club and college stars. In one of the most prestigious indoor meets ever conducted.

Mercersburg academy shattered its own world's record for the one-mile relay, covering the distance in 3 minutes, 23 and 4-5 seconds and also hung up an international triumph by defeating Hamilton Collegiate institute of Canada.

Women runners featured in the other international contests and divided honors. Rosa Grosse, speedy Toronto miss, defeated Marion McCarrie, the American record holder in the 50-yard dash, while the City Bank club of New York, captured the second division of the quarter-mile relay, in which the Toronto girls' club was third.

Woodring, Olympic 200-meter champion, carried the Milrose A. A. colors to victory as anchorman for his team in the one-mile club relay, but the former Syracuse star was expected to be the Tommy Forest, of the Loughlin lyceum, by three feet after they had started the last quarter mile on even terms.

Americans Are 3rd in Olympics

Chamonix, France, January 29.—The United States thus far is a very poor third in the Olympic competitions, which have now progressed as far as the skiing events.

Finland leads the field with 67 1-2 points and Norway has 49 1-2. The United States team has only 19. Switzerland and Austria have ten each. France, Great Britain, Czechoslovakia, 3 and Sweden and Canada one each.

Mme. Szabo, of Austria, contributed some points to the standing of her nation by winning the ladies' figure skating event Tuesday.

Yannaki, of the United States, was second, and Miss Muckel, of Great Britain, third. Mrs. Blanchard, of the United States, was fourth in the 19-mile military ski race in 3 hours, 57 minutes, 6 seconds. Finland was second and France third.

The hockey tournament, Great Britain's team defeated France 85 to 2. The Canadians, who seem likely to fight it out with the American team in the final clash, beat the strong Czech team 22 to 0. This brought Canada to the third round and the feat of eliminating the Swedes was regarded as augury of a hard fight for the Americans if these two should meet in the last round. The Canadian team was the most impressive squad in action today.

DODGERS WILL TAKE 38 PLAYERS TO CAMP

New York, January 29.—There will be 38 ball players, of all degrees, in the Brooklyn Dodgers squad at Clearwater, Fla., this year and 15 of them will be new hands, fighting for permanent jobs.

Why young ballplayers should fight for jobs with the Dodgers is one of the things that professors of psychology have never been able to explain, as more experienced players have been known to fight to escape the team.

The Dodgers are carrying 14 pitchers, both rookies and regulars, provided all of last year's men sign their contracts without debate.

Interest in Court Case Pales Beside Dope Test on Flowers

BY PARKS RUSK.

Twelve cut roses, which brighten the reception room of Mrs. Onezima de Bouchel in her hotel suite here, are the center of considerable interest among friends who called to see her Tuesday.

They are ordinary white roses, except for their rare beauty and fragrance, but with the aid of modern science they are expected to outlive the trial of the flowers for a week or ten days. Her attorneys join in the same wish. A verdict is expected in much shorter time. It is expected that the trial of the roses will be a sensation, for it is the first time that a drug test has been made on flowers.

Mrs. de Bouchel arrived from New Orleans shortly before noon Tuesday. She was accompanied by Harold M. Moore, one of her attorneys, two close personal friends, Mrs. Lydia Wickliffe and Mrs. Sadie Griffin, both prominent New Orleans society leaders, and Colonel L. P. Bryant, also of New Orleans, a life-long friend of the de Bouchel family.

Mrs. de Bouchel communicated at once with Harry Gamble, of New Orleans, one of her attorneys, who preceded her here, and Attorney Albert Howell, of Atlanta.

At the Piedmont hotel, where a suite of rooms on the fourth floor was engaged, Mrs. de Bouchel registered from Reno, Nev., where she is said to hold her legal residence, although an almost constant sojourner at New Orleans.

At 1 o'clock luncheon was ordered served on a little round table in the reception room which occupies the center of the suite.

Bans Coca-Cola.

During the process of placing the order, Mrs. Wickliffe, with a mischievous twinkle in her eye, called for a bottle of coca-cola, whereupon Mrs. de Bouchel, in the same spirit of jest, issued an edict against the use of the beverage, formerly manufactured by the Coca-Cola Co.

Mrs. de Bouchel was expected to arrive in Atlanta Tuesday, but she was delayed by a storm in New Orleans, which was disclosed a quantity of aspirin. The flowers were placed in

AND OTHER BID MADE ON MUSCLE SHOALS

Washington, January 29.—Hearings on the lease of Muscle Shoals were brought to a close today by the house military committee after it had received another proposal for the property. The committee which tomorrow takes up discussion of the offer now has four bids before it.

The new proposal was made by E. H. Hooker, president of the White Electric Chemical company, Niagara Falls, N. Y., who said he represented himself and James G. White, president of the White Engineering corporation, and W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Mr. Hooker's offer in brief would leave the Muscle Shoal property in the hands of the government, with his corporation being responsible for its operation. He and his associates would place with the government $1,000,000 as a guarantee of good faith, and money needed for the development and operation of the project would be furnished by the government.

The proposal would provide for a fifty-year lease and would include development of all branches of the project, with special emphasis placed upon the production of fertilizer. A sinking fund would be created which would be turned over to the government for its use.

Besides this proposal, the committee also has before it Henry Ford's offer, which was made in the McKenzie bill. This measure, reported by the committee last year, is said to be acceptable to Mr. Ford, provided it includes the building of a dam, which would replace the Gorges plant by the erection of a similar steam plant.

The two other offers are the bid of the Southern Power companies, which also provides for development of both steam and fertilizer, and the proposal of the Union Carbide company, New York, for the production of fertilizer.

WATERMELON FEED IN MIDWINTER SURPRISE TO ALL

Believe it or not, a Georgia watermelon was fed to a group of members of the editorial staff of The Constitution, Tuesday.

The watermelon was luscious and the tomatoes were juicy. Just like it was July, when such things are common, they were laid upon the city editor's desk by J. T. McDaniel, a planter of Union City.

A banquet was created among the Senegambian office help. But they were under the painful necessity of admitting the veracity of their optics when a keen knife split the melon and revealed the ripe, red, juicy meat.

The melon was placed underground in Mr. McDaniel's cellar, along with a few other and a quantity of tomatoes, before the first frost of the year. It has been no unusual thing for Mr. McDaniel's family to enjoy a regular summertime "watermelon cut" while Atlanta and vicinity shivered in freezing weather, he told a reporter.

The tomatoes were equally as ripe and well preserved as the melon.

Mr. McDaniel stated he had kept bell peppers in the same manner for many months after the usual season.

"Georgians," which appears on The Constitution's editorial page each day, told Monday of many Atlantans who had tomatoes on the table at the Christmas dinner.

The janitor who emptied the waste basket in which the melon had been deposited had to be given first aid before he recovered from the shock. Upon receiving his mental equilibrium he hurried to a calendar and was still perusing it when this edition of The Constitution went to press.

Young Man Hurt In Auto Crash; Woman Driver Held

Julian Fraser, of 19 Longley avenue, is at Grady hospital with a broken arm and a serious injury to his head, as the result of a collision Tuesday night between a motorcycle on which he was riding and an automobile driven by Miss Ruth Atkinson, of 225 Capitol avenue. A charge of reckless driving was made against Miss Atkinson and she was released on $500 bond, while Hershel Pruitt, driver of the motorcycle on which Fraser was riding, is being held on similar charges in default of $500 bond.

The accident happened at Luckie and Peachtree streets, according to Pruitt, as he attempted to turn from Peachtree into Luckie. He claims that Miss Atkinson's car struck his machine, knocking Fraser to the pavement.

Miss Atkinson claims that Pruitt was trying to dodge another automobile when he ran into her car.

Fight on Beavers Is Not Expected To Be Considered

No action looking toward ousting James L. Beavers as chief of police, will be taken by the police committee at its council session tonight, it was stated Tuesday night by Councilman J. A. Beall, vice chairman of the committee. Only routine matters will be considered, he stated.

He declined to discuss the committee's plan of procedure against the chief in view of the court ruling last Saturday outlawing the list of charges which had been pending against him.

Charges of inefficiency were filed against the police chief in February, 1923, and had held the spotlight of interest in police affairs until a decision was handed down Saturday by Judge Ellis, in Fulton superior court, which outlawed the charges.

Persistent rumors have been current since Saturday to the effect that the police committee would renew its fight to oust the chief.

Tax Delinquents Will Cast Ballot In DeKalb Election

Decatur, Ga., January 29.—(Special.)—DeKalb county qualified voters will be permitted to poll in the special election for ordinary February 7 even though they have not paid their 1923 taxes, according to a ruling Tuesday by Ed. L. Waggoner, secretary of the county board of registrars. The law governing the case provides that names of voters will be stricken from the only after taxes are due for two months. No taxes for the year are due for that period of time, and thus all registered voters are entitled to ballot.

The election is called to fill the place made vacant by the death of Judge James R. George. Voting places will be provided in every precinct.

Announced candidates for the election are Carl Guess, of Stone Mountain; W. D. Wallace, of Chamblee; Clem Jolly, of Clarkston; V. S. Morgan, of Ingleside; E. P. White, of Lithonia; and L. F. Jordan and W. P. Hudson, of Decatur.

$3,300,000 Deal Is Closed in Griffin When Firms Merge

Griffin, Ga., January 29.—(Special.)—Sale of the Kincaid Manufacturing company to the Griffin Cotton Mills, a deal involving nearly three and one-half million dollars, was reported here Tuesday. The report said the deal had been closed, though a meeting of the stockholders of both companies is necessary for confirmation.

The new corporation is to be known as the Georgia Kincaid Manufacturing company. The Griffin Cotton Mills, of which J. H. Cheatham is president and treasurer, and W. W. Norman is secretary, consists of 28,000 spindles and 900 looms, and employs 600 people. Terry and Luck towels and doily weaves are manufactured.

The Kincaid mills consist of 47,000 spindles, 1,200 looms, and employ 800 people. Allan Little is president and W. F. Ingram is secretary and treasurer. Towels, corduros and table damasks are manufactured.

The combined corporation will consist of five mills, three Georgia and two Kincaid. The Kincaid is capitalized at $1,500,000. The report said the stock sold at 220, aggregating exactly $3,300,000, which is said to be the largest financial deal ever negotiated here.

Watchman Feigns Injury To Thwart Thugs in Robbery

Will Coyle, night watchman for the Gulf Refining company, narrowly escaped being killed Tuesday night when he feigned the target for a pair of bullets from the hands of two bandits who were attempting to rob the filling station of that company at 218 Murphy avenue.

Falling to the ground, Coyle escaped the barrage, and also frightened the bandits off before they obtained any loot.

Coyle is watchman for several stations of the company, and had been away from the one on Murphy street for half an hour. Returning to that station, he was greeted by the hail of lead from the gun. He stood guard at the window. He fell to the ground, and drawing his own pistol, towarded the door.

As he rounded the corner he saw the two robbers leap from the window and run down the street. Coyle fired several shots, but was unable to halt their flight. Both were masked.

Investigation of the office showed nothing had been taken, although the combination had been chiseled off the safe. Officers W. A. Goode and J. C. Hard had been detailed to investigate.

KLAN OFFICIAL ENTERS SHERIFF'S RACE IN FULTON

Henry Norton, exalted cyclops of the Atlanta Klan No. 1, Tuesday announced to friends at the city hall that he had definitely decided to enter the race for sheriff of Fulton county, subject to the primary, March 10, and would announce his ticket of deputies probably next Sunday.

"My friends have urged me to make the race for sheriff," Mr. Norton stated Tuesday, "and it was only after I had given the question careful consideration that I decided to enter as a candidate. My stand on the salary question will be that if the people want the sheriff to serve on a salary instead of fees, I am perfectly content to accept such salary as the county commissioners may fix."

Mr. Norton announced that he contemplated a county-wide campaign. He is the third candidate to enter the race. Other candidates are the incumbent, Sheriff James L. Beavers, and Chief of Police James L. Beavers.
